FEW REPORT AT BROWN.

HIGH LIGHTS AND SHADOWS IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

THESE are beautiful Indian summer afternoons at Princeton. There is a mellowness and yet a snap in the air, and the football players are chafing over the restraint that keeps them from going into the field against the Tiger's old rivals. Princeton students want football, and they want a varsity football team, and, failing to get official sanction, they have organized an "informal" combination.

The Princeton "informals" got their first taste of battle last week, when they were invited over to New Brunswick to meet the Rutgers varsity. As the invitation came on the morning of the game. Princeton could get only eight players leorge Foster Sanford is not satisfied with the Rutgers line. He is making a result only signal work was possible.

Coach Robinson and his staff feel the importance of the next three games and feel the one with Boston College next Saturday. Francke, a freshman has been put in at guard and Neuschaffer may be shifted to tackle. Felther, regular tackle, has a had leg and was not in the scrimmage to-day.

The weakness at Brown is in lack of substitutes. There are only a couple of good linesmen and three basks.
